

A Peek at Our Week

Beginning the Year

This week we will continue to focus heavily on rules and routines, especially for our newer friends.

We will work hard to help your child learn the names of their new classmates, and begin to form some friendships.

Our literacy emphasis is a book I made in powerpoint, that will help your child learn each other's names. I am going to post the powerpoint on the website (lockhartpreschool.weebly.com, under the photo section) so you can read this "book" at home. I had originally planned to password protect that portion of our website; however, I was unaware that that feature costs. Therefore, I can post it on the website without a password once everyone returns their photo release form. Most of you have already returned the photo release form, I'm just waiting on a few. If you need another copy, please let me know. If you have any questions or concerns about your child's picture being placed on our class website please do not hesitate to call or e-mail me.

Preschool splash day will be this Thursday, August 18th. Please send your child in a bathing suit. In their backpack, please send a towel and change of clothes. Please label both the towel and change of clothes with your child's name. We are not allowed to apply sunscreen at school, so if you want your child to wear sunscreen please apply it before sending them to school. Also, we are still looking for some parent volunteers. We would need help from about 9:45-10:45 am. Volunteers would help man the bubble-blowing station, and help keep the peace during changing time. If you are available and interested please e-mail me at jscott8@wcpss.net. Thank you!

Optional Homework

- Coloring is a great activity that provides a strong foundation for writing. Use a blank sheet of paper (not a page from a coloring book) to encourage your child's natural creativity.
- Read the "book" on our class website called: My Class Family \(AM\) to your child.
