

A Peek at Our Week

Families

I hope everyone had a fun and restful Labor Day weekend!

The concept of families comes up fairly frequently during play at school. Based on this prior knowledge, we will build on the concept of families to teach your child new concepts.

This week we are focusing on Dash's letter. His letter is named, "Dippy Duck" in Letterland.

Our literary emphasis this week is Where's Spot? By Eric Hill. This book will provide an excellent opportunity to learn about prepositional words.

Class Buddies

- Yael & Dash
- Alan & Tommy
- Mallin & Colton
- Zoey & Sarahi
- Noah & Ms. Sha'ron

Parent-Teacher Conferences

I have scheduled parent-teacher conferences for next Friday and the following Friday. You will be receiving a paper in your child's folder that includes the date and time of your conference. If your date and time is inconvenient, please refer to my schedule on the class website (www.lockhartpreschool.weebly.com) and look under the tab labeled "Family-School Partnership". There you will find my schedule on Conference days with several time slots that say, "Available upon request." Please refer to this chart when requesting a new time to re-schedule your conference. Also, phone conferences are a possibility if it makes it easier for you. I look forward to meeting with each and every one of you!

Thursday is picture day!

Knightdale Station Park

This Friday, please join us for a class play-date at Knightdale Station Park 810 North 1st Avenue, Knightdale, NC 27545. Please note that I have changed the time from 9:00—11:00 am to 9:30—11:00 am. We hope to see you there!

Optional Homework

- Look at at least one book with your child before bed every night. If you can incorporate books into your child's bedtime routine, that would be even better!
- Help your child practice making Dippy Duck's 'd' sound while flapping your arms like a duck.
